Description of object:This house, built in 2003, has been lovingly extended and renovated since 2022, with great attention to functionality.On the ground floor, there is a spacious living room with a fireplace, two bedrooms, a separate fully equipped kitchen with a utility room, and a bathroom with both a bathtub and a shower.

A large southwest-facing terrace with an awning completes this level, offering open views across the plain and toward the mountains.

The second living unit has a separate entrance accessed via an external staircase. From the large terrace (also southwest-facing with the same beautiful view), you enter a conservatory that has been
